The Mandate.

What we are. Who we sell to. What we refuse to look like.

01 · POSITIONING

MERIDIAN — The AI Operator System

A $1,500 high-ticket course positioning AI workflow automation as an elite operator skill — not a beginner tutorial.

ONE-LINE POSITIONING

Bloomberg Terminal energy meets a Hermès orange box.

02 · THE AUDIENCE · THE DROWNING EXECUTIVE

Director, VP, senior consultant, founder, agency owner.

$180K–$500K / year · age 32–48 · cognitively overloaded.

Paid to think — but spends 60% of the week executing.

THE THESIS

*We are not selling a course.
We are selling the identity shift.*

From senior IC who works hard → operator who compounds.

before / after

01 · EMOTIONAL REGISTER

The brand never shouts, because it doesn't have to.

If something needs to be emphasized, the typography and the whitespace emphasize it.

02 · REFERENCE BRANDS — MOOD, NOT COPY

STRIPE confident · whitespace · quiet typography	LINEAR grid discipline · mono details · zero decoration	ARC playful restraint
a16z editorial authority · serif pull quotes	RAMP black backgrounds that feel expensive, not edgy	A. LANGE & SÖHNE cold precision with warm metal

03 · DO · DON'T

DO	DON'T
— Lead with the operator's outcome, not the tool	✗ No 🔥 RESULTS 🔥 — no emoji, ever
— Use mono numerals for prices, durations, modules	✗ No “dear hiring manager” corporate boilerplate
— Italicize for emphasis · never bold-shout	✗ No drop shadows on type or buttons
— Earn declaratives (“It is”) — drop hedges	✗ No “Secrets,” “Blueprint,” “Mastery,” “Hack”
— Treat whitespace as a decision, not a leftover	✗ No yellow highlighter, no arrow-on-screenshot
— Keep sentences shorter than the reader expects	✗ No countdown timers · no urgency theatre

TONE SAMPLE · SUBJECT LINE → BODY

*You're not behind on AI.
You're behind on leverage.*

STRUCTURE IS BIMODAL · SIGNATURE IS BOLD

Five hexes. No more. If you reach for a sixth, restate the problem.

Brand Style Guidelines · Color · The Palette

The Stack.

Two voices · three typefaces · zero substitutions

01 · THE PAIRING PHILOSOPHY

WHY THREE FACES

A premium authority brand needs two voices — editorial and operator.

We pair a modern serif (the editorial voice — “I am respected”) with a geometric sans + mono (the operator voice — “I execute”). It is the signature of premium tech — Stripe Press, Linear, Vercel.

02 · THE FOUR-ELEMENT STACK

MODULE 04 · THE OPERATOR LAYER

A system you build.
Not a tool you rent.

Forty-two prompts, eleven workflows, one operator stack.
Six weeks of doing the work — none of watching it.

Ultralight Italic reads crisp and ghostly on Deep.

FIVE COMMANDMENTS

01 · ONE H1 PER PAGE. EVER.

02 · MIN. 40% WHITESPACE — PREMIUM IS WHAT YOU LEAVE OUT.

03 · EYEBROWS ARE MANDATORY ABOVE EVERY H2 ON SALES PAGES.

04 · NUMBERS ALWAYS SET IN FRAKTION MONO.

05 · ITALICS BELONG TO EDITORIAL NEW ONLY. NEUE MONTREAL NEVER ITALICIZES.

The Logo Family

Three voices · one mark · siblings, not parent and child

01 · THE LOGOMARK

MARK · v1

The wordmark distilled.

Italic m, brass meridian, three peak ticks.

WORDMARK · v1

The full name, set in custom italic.

Use when the brand needs to introduce itself. Pairs with the mark in lockups.

02 · LOCKUPS

HORIZONTAL LOCKUP

Default lockup · 2X spacing between mark and wordmark.

03 · SIZING ACROSS SURFACES

Misue

Eight ways to ruin the mark · do none of these

01 · EIGHT THINGS TO NEVER DO

DON'T STRETCH scale uniformly only

DON'T RECOLOR
brass and navy only

DON'T ROTATE
the meridian is 45° NE→SW

DON'T DROP-SHADOW
no atmospheric effects

DON'T OUTLINE THE BRASS
no strokes around the meridian line
(strokes allowed on same color background)

DON'T CROP THE FIELD
navy field is the mark

DON'T RECOMPOSE
no rearranging components

DON'T PLACE ON BUSY clear space is sacred

02 · CLEAR SPACE — THE X RULE

RULE
X = 1/2 the height of the m at the size you're rendering.

WHAT GOES IN THE BOX
Nothing. No text, no icon, no edge, no nav-bar pixel, no boundary.

MEASURE FROM THE FIELD
The clear-space frame hugs the navy field — not the brass diagonals beyond.

PAIRED WITH THE WORDMARK
Leave 2X between mark and wordmark.

The Editorial Frame

Twelve columns · forty-percent whitespace · zero compromise

01 · THE 12-COLUMN GRID

M010203040506070809101112M

MODULE 04 · THE OPERATOR LAYER

Spans 6 of 12.

The other six breathe.

Body content lives in 6–8 columns. Display can break out to 10. Whitespace is not absence — it is composition.

12 COLUMNS · 16U GUTTERS · 36U OUTER MARGIN

BASELINE 8U · MAJOR AXIS 32U

02 · WHITESPACE BUDGET — 40% MINIMUM

TOO DENSE — 12% AIR

Reads as a SaaS dashboard. Reject.

BORDERLINE — 32% AIR

Below floor. Push more out.

EYEBROW

Breathing room.

One line of body. Two at most.

CORRECT — 58% AIR

Premium is what you leave out.

03 · THE EDITORIAL RHYTHM

FEATURE 01 · HERO PANEL

A photograph in Vanity Fair.

EDITORIAL BODY

When you exit the hero, you return to light-mode rules automatically.

The hero is a cinematic moment inside a larger editorial layout. Not a mode shift — a magazine spread.

PRINT RHYTHM · 03 / 04

THE THESIS · IN ONE SENTENCE

Design does the closing.

When a VP of Operations lands on the sales page and sees Editorial New italic against Obsidian, with a brass eyebrow reading MODULE 04 · THE OPERATOR LAYER, and a Fraktion Mono $1,500 · 06 WEEKS — they are not comparing this to a Kajabi course. They are comparing it to executive education at Wharton Online.

The aesthetic has already pre-sold the price.
